

PART ONE

THE TIME KEEPER

There are four men within the Kodesh Ha-Kodashim who YHWH appointed as timekeepers for humanity: Enoch the Navi, Daniyel the Navi, Yeshayahu the Navi, and Yochanan the Revelator. (I acknowledge that the true identities of the last two have been subjects of historical debate.) These men were not greater than the other prophets of Scripture, but they were entrusted with an additional, extraordinary responsibility. They were given a distinct mandate—the authority and power to initiate or delay YHWH's appointed events. However, while they could influence the timing, they could never alter the certainty of what was prophesied. Every appointed event was destined to unfold in its time. To prematurely kill one of these timekeepers would trigger the immediate execution of the divine timeline. For this reason, YHWH ensured that none of them could die before their appointed time. That said, this message is not primarily about the timekeepers themselves, though their role is central. Rather, I aim to explain the events we are currently witnessing, the deeper intentions behind them, and most importantly, to reveal who the timekeeper is for our generation. One remains—the one Daniyel prophesied would stand at the end of days (Daniyel (Daniel) 12:13). But before we can fully understand this unfolding, we must first establish a framework: a clear picture of how the world system is designed and how it functions. The design, surprisingly, is simple.

THE WORLD MAKEUP

This world can be seen as a living chessboard, where every piece embodies a unique role within the greater system. The six classic pieces—the king, queen, rook, bishop, knight, and pawn—reflect the very structure of society itself. Perhaps even the original creator of the game did not fully grasp the deeper symbolism embedded in its design:

1. Pawns – The 70%: the masses, ordinary people, often considered expendable.
2. Rooks – The 20%: the trained workers, the backbone of labor, carrying out 80% of the system's function.
3. Knights – The 5%: the creatives and innovators, the minds that connect ideas and build bridges between systems.
4. Bishops – The 3%: the protectors and subtle strategists who influence from behind the scenes.
5. Queens – The 2%: the enforcers, the powerbrokers who operate state agencies and uphold the rules.
6. Kings – The 1%: the ultra-wealthy dynasties, setting the rules and determining how long the game continues.

The Chessboard – Infinity: the very foundation of play, the unseen matrix itself, which no one owns. Yet there is an often-overlooked eighth element: the chess clock. This device, with two timers shifting back and forth between players, ensures the game has both fairness and an end. But in the grander sense, there is only one clock, not two—and it is held by a single man on Earth. He alone decides when the final move will be made. And know this: it is not Eloah (God). It is a House being built whose identity I will soon reveal. But first, let me speak about the powers that govern this Earth.

THE CURRENT SYSTEM

For more than 500 years, the Western world has operated under a Central Banking–Lawfare model. This system functions through three primary mechanisms:

1. Currency Creation – Central banks issue fiat money, no longer backed by tangible assets.
2. Enforcement – Police, military, and intelligence agencies compel its use, guaranteeing liquidity and compliance.
3. Policy Control – Monetary and fiscal policies dictate the system's operation.

Officially, this framework is presented as balanced: central banks manage monetary policy while elected officials oversee fiscal policy under the democratic principle of "no taxation without representation." In reality, that balance has collapsed. A "bankers' coup" has taken place—central banks no longer trust the public to direct fiscal matters. The endgame is consolidation: control over both monetary creation and fiscal policy are concentrated in the hands of financial elites. Alongside this visible system exists a vast black-budget economy that dwarfs the GDP of China and Russia combined. Estimates suggest that at least $36 trillion is missing from the US budget alone, with possibly another $20 trillion unaccounted for across China, Russia, and Europe. This hidden economy sustains covert military and intelligence operations, funded by the US dollar's role as global reserve currency. The result: Hidden taxation through inflation. A parallel breakaway economy beyond public oversight. This breakaway civilization consists of central bankers, intelligence factions, private military contractors, and ultra-wealthy dynasties. Operating outside public law, they are involved in occult networks, bloodline-based ideologies, advanced technologies (including UFO research), and underground infrastructure for government continuity. The covert economy is expanding, demanding ever more secrecy and funding. Since World War II, treaty-based organizations—such as the UN, IMF, and World Bank—have exploited sovereign immunity to operate above the jurisdiction of nation-states, facilitating clandestine financial and data networks. Meanwhile, populations are being systematically weakened and profited from through toxic food systems, pharmaceuticals, and vaccines, with children most affected. The COVID-19 crisis functioned as a military operation, intended to shorten life expectancy and postpone the inevitable collapse of unsustainable retirement and social systems. What is coming is a collapse—but not of the dollar.

PART TWO

THE NEW SYSTEM

A powerful fusion of evolution and revolution is emerging on the global stage—and few truly comprehend its magnitude or what it signals for the future. This is not the beast of Revelation 13, but something altogether different—something reactive, forged in the fires of global crisis, and designed to save humanity. As you read through this plan, keep one truth firmly in mind: YHWH has never, at any point, lost control of what is unfolding. We must trust Him.

The Coming Digital Cage: How Power Is Being Rewired Behind the Scenes

For decades, the United States sat at the center of a unipolar world order. Washington dictated the rules, Wall Street managed the money, and the Pentagon enforced compliance. But that model is cracking. A multipolar order is now rising—Russia, China, Europe, and regional blocs are building alternatives. Yet, despite the talk of American decline, the United States is not about to vanish from the global stage. Instead, it is evolving its methods of control. The dollar, the backbone of US dominance, is not collapsing. Why? Because it is backed not just by economic confidence but by something far darker: military supremacy, covert intelligence operations, and hidden "black economy" technologies that most people never see. On paper, America has just 4% of the world's population—but it commands 27% of global GDP and nearly half (48%) of the world's total market capitalization. Add to that the $500 trillion in natural assets—land, minerals, resources—that the federal government can leverage as collateral, and the picture becomes clearer: this is not a country going broke. This is a country reshaping control.

From Sanctions to Social Credit

The old tools of tariffs, sanctions, and economic warfare are still on the table, but they are being replaced with something far more comprehensive:

A global digital infrastructure.

- Central Bank Digital Currencies (CBDCs): money that can be tracked, frozen, or redirected at the push of a button.
- AI-powered social credit systems: algorithms that assign scores, rewarding "good behavior" while punishing dissent.
- Integrated digital IDs: one card, one app, one identity—linking bank accounts, health records, education, even travel rights.

PART THREE

The promise sold to the public is convenience and safety. The reality is total surveillance, programmable control, and algorithmic governance. Where you travel, what you eat, the education you're offered—everything can be monitored and regulated. It is all for a good reason.

The New Architects of Control

Key figures are driving this transition. Donald Trump, Elon Musk, and a circle often referred to as the "Digital Knights" are pushing the infrastructure needed for this transformation. The legislative tool is the Genius Act, designed to merge:

- Real ID (digital identity systems)
- Stablecoins (dollar-backed digital currency)
- Big Tech distribution channels (Apple Pay, Google Pay, and beyond)

The goal is simple but sweeping: digitally entrench the dollar across the globe, sidelining local currencies and binding billions of people into one monetary framework controlled from Washington and Silicon Valley.

Energy: The Hidden Cost of the Grid

What they don't tell you is that the energy price tag is enormous. Data centers are multiplying at breakneck speed, consuming electricity at levels that rival entire nations. By 2030, the US will need the equivalent of 30 new nuclear plants in Texas alone just to power this infrastructure. Bitcoin mining is already devouring energy at unprecedented rates—and CBDCs, AI, and global surveillance networks will demand even more. This is not just a financial transformation. It is a complete rewiring of the planet's energy systems, tied directly to monitoring and control.

AI, DOGE, and the Machinery of Surveillance

The sharpest blade in this new arsenal is Artificial Intelligence. Marketed as progress, it is quietly being fused with surveillance architecture. Through initiatives like DOGE, federal and private data streams are merging into a single, real-time behavioral enforcement system. Every medical record, every purchase, every movement, every keystroke—absorbed, processed, and analyzed by machines. AI will not just predict behavior; it will shape behavior. Punishment or reward will no longer be handed down by human authorities but delivered instantly by an algorithm.

The Global Expansion

The United States is not moving in isolation. China is refining its own social credit system, while Russia, the United Kingdom, and Europe develop parallel infrastructures. Satellites are being launched, data centers constructed, and international agreements quietly solidified. Still, it is the US—with its unparalleled market influence, military strength, and dominance in digital technology—that remains the primary architect of this emerging order. The direction is clear. Within the next 10 to 20 years, no part of the globe will lie beyond the reach of this expanding grid. Every individual will be visible. Every transaction is trackable. Every behavior is subject to correction. Eventually, these national systems will converge into a single, unified global network within 30 years.

The Bottom Line

The disintegration of the previous order functions simultaneously as emancipation and as a new mechanism of control. Authority is transitioning—from overt imperial structures to digital architectures—under the rhetoric of protecting humanity and the environment. The pertinent question has shifted: it is no longer whether surveillance occurs, but whether we recognize that it is already in effect.

THE FORMER ADMINISTRATION

Under the Obama and Biden administrations, the world was heading towards a global war aimed at creating the Beast of Revelation 13. The writing was on the wall, and we had warned the world of the coming fallout if the democratic party had won the US elections in our previous Releases. The powers that be had branded humanity as "useless eaters," a species gone rogue, out of control, and incapable of self-governance, and they were correct to do this. Why? Because the signs are written everywhere, in our undeniable marks upon the Earth, and you would have to be blind not to see it:

PART FOUR

1. Unfettered Lawlessness. Society has descended into chaos. Domestic homes—once meant to be sanctuaries—are now battlegrounds. Communities groan under the weight of violence, theft, and betrayal. Nations rise against nations, spilling innocent blood in endless wars that profit the few and devastate the many. Lawlessness is no longer hidden; it is celebrated, normalized, and weaponized.

2. Drug Abuse and the Enslavement of Humanity. Addiction has become a global epidemic, a silent chain that shackles entire generations. Substances numb minds, enslave wills, and fracture families. But beyond drugs lies another form of slavery—the trafficking of bodies and souls. Men, women, and children are bought, sold, and exploited, reduced to commodities in a marketplace of cruelty. The very dignity of humanity is auctioned to the highest bidder.

3. Environmental Pollution. The Earth groans under the weight of human negligence. Skies once pure are choked with smoke. Oceans, meant to teem with life, are poisoned with plastics and chemicals. The soil that feeds us is saturated with toxins, and the balance of creation is shattered by greed. Humanity has treated the planet not as a home to steward, but as a carcass to strip and devour.

4. The Slaughterhouses that Have Turned Rivers into Blood. Mass industrial slaughter, cloaked under the veil of necessity and progress, has become a daily ritual of death. Rivers run red with waste, ecosystems collapse under the strain, and creation itself testifies against humanity. The cry of innocent blood—human and animal alike—rises to the heavens, demanding justice.

Judgement averted

We cannot lay the blame for humanity's global descent solely at the feet of the previous administration. The crisis we face began long before, with a judgment pronounced against humanity itself—signaled by the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic and intended to culminate in global war and the implementation of the so-called Mark of the Beast system. Make no mistake: this sequence of events was not random. It reflects a deeper spiritual and societal collapse. These four grim realities—violence becoming culture, slavery transforming into economy, the Earth treated as expendable, and life itself rendered disposable—reveal why the global elite regard humanity as its own worst enemy. Like pieces on a chessboard, the bishop, queen, and king symbolize the mechanisms of control wielded by those in power. In such a system, where moral decay is normalized, what remains of civilization? Humanity, created with divine intent and purpose, now teeters on the edge of self-destruction. Judgment does not come solely through the corruption of rulers—it arises also from the natural consequences of humanity's own rebellion and spiritual blindness.

Revelation 13

The previous administration viewed these events through a prophetic lens, informed by the Book of Revelation. In Chapter 13, two beasts are described. The first—leopard-like, with seven heads and ten horns—emerges from the sea, empowered by the dragon (Satan). Traditionally understood as the Antichrist, this figure is portrayed as seizing global authority, blaspheming Eloah, and persecuting the faithful. The second beast rises from the Earth, bearing two horns like a lamb yet speaking with deception. Its role is to serve the first beast, compelling the nations to worship the Antichrist and to receive his mark—a sign of allegiance tied to a system of total surveillance and military control. Within this interpretive framework, some have associated Barack Obama with the Antichrist archetype. His name, often connected with the concept of "lightning," has been linked to Luka (Luke) 10:18 and

PART FIVE

Yeshayahu (Isaiah) 14:14, passages describing Satan's fall from heaven like lightning.

The Tides turned

There are two primary sources of power:

1. Force — expressed through military might, legal authority, financial influence, and physical strength.
2. Righteousness — accessing divine wisdom and moral authority.

If every person—eight billion strong—could tap into the latter, it would eclipse every human system of control. A remnant already has. Prayerful multitudes across nations discerned the hour and engaged in spiritual warfare through fasting and intercession. Their persistence thwarted the enemy's plans, even as the Biden Administration attempted to bring chaos to the world. YHWH overturned that design. The result was one of the most extraordinary political and prophetic reversals of our time: in 2024, President Trump prevailed in the US national election. Yet many within the body of Messiah still struggle to read the times or grasp the scale of what is unfolding.

THE NEW ADMINISTRATION

The election of Donald J. Trump stands as arguably the most unexpected and monumental political upset in modern history. Many have speculated about the improbable circumstances that led to his rise, but one ancient revelation offers a perspective that transcends conventional explanation—it was foretold nearly 2,640 years ago. This is the only Scripture I will quote: "This image's head was of fine gold, its chest and arms of silver, its belly and thighs of bronze, its legs of iron, and its feet partly of iron and partly of clay. You watched while a Stone was cut out without hands, which struck the image on its feet of iron and clay, and broke them in pieces. Then the iron, the clay, the bronze, the silver, and the gold were crushed together, and became like chaff on the summer threshing floors; the wind carried them away so that no trace of them was found. And the Stone that struck the image became a great mountain and filled the whole earth" Daniyel (Daniel) 2:32-35. This ancient prophecy is being fulfilled before our eyes. What we are witnessing on the world stage is the work of Eliyahu ha-Navi manifesting through the person of Donald J. Trump. His actions are not merely political—they are catalytic to a divine disruption. The emergence of digital currency and the global digital infrastructure is not accidental; it marks the beginning of the end for the Kingdom of Darkness. The old-world order—the "Beast" system described in Revelation 13—is being dismantled. Consider what is unfolding:

- The United States is imposing tariffs and sanctions against aggressive regimes.
- The deployment of military forces to combat urban crime.
- The securing and militarization of the national border.
- The designation of drug cartels as terrorist organizations.
- The rapid expansion of AI and the global digital system.

These are not chains being forged, but keys—components of a new framework designed not to enslave, but to set us free. We are witnessing a divine transformation in real time. There is no need for fear. The very infrastructure of Elohim's Kingdom is rising before our eyes. YHWH is orchestrating every detail. How else did you think Heaven would shield us—and the Earth?

CONCLUSION

The calling of the Navi (Prophet) is to uncover what is unfolding and to provide vision for what is yet to come. In our world, countless events—whether great or small—can leave us unsettled. Yet the Apostle John exhorts us, "Do not let your hearts be troubled" (Yochanan (John) 14:1). YHWH desires that we not only discern the present but also understand the future, so that our hearts remain rooted in His Shalom. Above all, He reassures us that every matter rests securely in His hands. Our part is to grow in trust toward Him. And now, the moment has come to unveil the Time Keeper—for the Royal House of Elohim is being quietly established in our day. We humbly ask for your prayers.
